

Spanish Rebels Nearing Valencia; Japanese Halted

Franco's Forces Are Five Miles Beyond de la Plana—Rain in China Checks Japanese Forces

French Decree

French Government Increases Number of Officers, Enlisted Men in Army

(By the Associated Press)
The Spanish insurgents' drive on Valencia carried them five miles past captured Castellon de la Plana today while in China the Japanese advanced along the Longhai railroad was halted by flood waters of the Yellow river. Two insurgent columns seized Castellon last night. Other columns skirted the once-thriving port, 40 miles north of Valencia, and drove on down the coastal plain.

They were halted at the Mijares river, where government troops dug in to hold up the advance until new fortifications could be completed about ten miles north of the Sagunto-Teruel highway.

Barcelona Bombed
Insurgent planes again bombed Barcelona, Valencia and Sagunto despite resistance of government planes.

In China engineers familiar with the Yellow river feared one of the greatest catastrophes in history would result from the flood which already had inundated numerous villages.

The Japanese drive on Chengchow, junction of the Lunghai and Peiping-Hankow railways not only was halted, but Chinese reports from the front said the Japanese had been forced to withdraw as far as Kai-feng, 43 miles east of Chengchow.

As a result of the set-back on the Lunghai front, the Japanese were concentrating on a combined land and naval campaign up the Yangtze river toward Hankow, China's provisional capital.

Fleet Advances
They said their fleet had advanced 15 miles up the river from Anking, Anhwei province capital, and now was about 215 miles from Hankow.

The French government, pushing its defense program in the midst of the troubled European situation, announced it had adopted a decree increasing the number of officers and enlisted men in the army.

The British Parliament met in London after its Whitsun recess intent upon hearing Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's plans for coping with Spanish insurgent air attacks on British shipping. Five British ships have been sunk in Spanish water since Parliament recessed.

A dispatch from Paris said Spanish insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco was reported to have accepted United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers' proposal for an exchange of American prisoners captured in the Spanish Civil War.

At Hankow Rear Admiral David M. Le Breton, commander of the United States Navy's Yangtze river patrol, today instructed vessels about Wuhan to stay at their posts to protect American property and lives.

Would Boost Bail

District Attorney's Office Seeks to Hold Rosenthal in Higher Bondage

New York, June 14 (AP)—Fearful of witness tampering, the district attorney's office sought today to have the bail of Lea Rosenthal, held in the investigation of a $100,000,000 policy racket, raised from $10,000 to $35,000.

Rosenthal, a material witness, is an associate of Tammany district leader James J. Hines, one of nine men indicted in a grand jury inquiry into the numbers syndicate once run by the late Dutch Schultz.

Assistant District Attorney Sol Gelb resisted attempts yesterday of Matthew P. Kenney, former deputy purchase commissioner and Hines political adviser, to obtain Rosenthal's release on the $10,000 bail.

Gelb, aide of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, went before Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora and demanded the amount be raised to $35,000.

An affidavit introduced by Gelb said District Attorney Dewey was convinced Rosenthal, if released, would not be available for further testimony "because the defendant and others associated with him had employed by him to intimidate and influence him."

Justice Pecora reserved decision. Leo J. Bondy, treasurer of the New York Giants baseball club, disclosed he had given "some information" to District Attorney Dewey's staff.

Rainfall in the City Of Cloudburst Size During Week-End

City Engineer Norton Gives Figures Relative to Precipitation, Drainage—Explains Congestion

The city engineer's rain gauge on top of the city hall showed that two inches of rain fell here last Saturday and Sunday. The rather startling fact was also shown that one inch of rain fell Saturday night within a period of 45 minutes, which means almost the density of a cloudburst.

City Engineer James Norton stated that one inch of rain in 45 minutes on a street 100 feet long and 20 feet wide, is equal to 15,625 pounds or 1,375 gallons of water. He also stated that the sewer system drained the properties on each side of the street, and that when the water is falling on a 10-foot sidewalk and a 100-foot lot on each side of the street were taken into consideration, the area drained showed a rainfall of 125,000 pounds or 15,000 gallons of water during a 45-minute period.

When rain descends in these huge quantities, said the city engineer, the drainage system of the city cannot accommodate it, and some congestion results in getting the water through the sewer lines to the Rondout creek. During these periods some flooding results, although during the past five years the city has built 30 miles of new sewers and many more drainage spots have been removed.

City Engineer Norton said that projects are constantly being planned for the construction of new storm water sewers, but that the construction program during the summer months should be street grading and construction, and not sewer work. Street work cannot be done during the winter months and sewer work can be accomplished in temperatures not lower than zero.

Wall Street Bank Bids Eagle Hotel In at Foreclosure

Another chapter was written in the varied history of the old Eagle Hotel on Main street, at one time leading hostelry between New York and Albany, when it was sold at foreclosure sale held at the court house at noon today.

The action was brought by the Ulster County Savings Institution against the Eagle Hotel Corporation and others, Frederick Stang referee.

Robert G. Groves, attorney for the Savings Institution, was the only bidder and the property was sold to the Ulster County Savings Institution, holder of the first mortgage, for $20,000.

By the sale today mortgages held by the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Saugerties and the State of New York National Bank of Kingston, totaling some $18,000, are wiped out.

Senate Asked Today To Probe Charge of Influenced Elections

Washington, June 14 (AP)—The Senate audit committee initiated today a proposal that the Senate find out whether either federal or state funds are being spent to influence elections.

It voted to instruct the regular campaign investigating committee, headed by Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.), to make the inquiry. At the same time the committee rejected a resolution by Senator Tydings (D-Md.) to set up a committee to investigate any complaints that WPA funds were being used for political purposes.

The audit group recommended that funds available for the Sheppard committee be increased from $30,000 to $40,000. Earlier senators seeking an investigation of political complaints involving WPA had jockeyed for a compromise acceptable to the administration.

Most Noncommittal
Most administration lieutenants either have been noncommittal or have argued that a committee already created to study campaign expenditures has ample authority to inquire into WPA activities.

Backers of the separate committee idea were urging administration leaders to accept one of these two alternate proposals: A requirement that the campaign expenditures committee inquire specifically into any allegations that relief workers are engaging in political activity or are (Continued on Page Nine)

Showdown at Albany Today

Governor Lehman and Prosecutor Dewey Offer Contrasting Advice on Wire-tapping and Unreasonable Seizure of Property

Albany, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—Controversy over a proposed ban on wire-tapping and unreasonable seizure of property neared a constitutional convention showdown today with Democratic Governor Lehman and Manhattan's Republican Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey offering contrasting advice.

Encouraged by Lehman's unexpected support, Democratic delegate John J. Dunnigan moved for floor debate on the issue by asking discharge of his labor-supported proposal from a Republican-dominated committee which pigeon-holed it last week.

To do this, a vote of a majority of the present will be required. The measure would be brought from committee and finally be adopted by close votes sharply crossing party lines. Republicans dominate 92 to 78. Lehman's support of a ban, pledged last night in his first message to the convention since

Sir Jackson R. Shoemaker Heads State Commandery; Thousands See Big Parade

Thousands View Knights In Colorful Parade Which Forms at Academy Park About 3 P. M. Monday

Massing of Colors

Following Parade Throng at Reviewing Stand Views Massing of Colors

Under sunny skies to the strains of stirring music 2,500 Knights Templar marched on Broadway on Monday afternoon in the big parade that is always one of the features of the annual convocations of the order. The parade was viewed by thousands who packed the sidewalks along the line of march.

It was one of the most colorful as well as one of the largest parades to pass through Kingston's streets in some years.

The sidewalks along the line of march began to be thronged with people long before the parade started. The Board of Public Works had erected the reviewing stand on the sidewalk in front of the city library and another huge grand stand was erected on Broadway along the entire front of the high school, and every seat was taken long before the parade actually started, while the lawn in front of the city hall was a mass of people assembled to view the spectacle.

Forms at Academy Park

The parade formed at Academy Park and the surrounding streets and shortly after 3 o'clock the first division swung down Broadway, followed at brief intervals by the other divisions. Each division was led by a band or drum corps, and there were seven divisions.

After passing the reviewing stand in front of the library the parade proceeded on down Broadway as far as Delaware avenue where it reformed and in mass formation proceeded back up Broadway and past the reviewing stand.

The mass formation presented a most inspiring sight with all of the colors, standards and banners massed in one huge group with the mounted aides on horseback in another group and the band and drum corps in another group. The massed bands and drum corps played the stirring martial song of Onward Christian Soldiers, which was written by the late Rev. S. Baring Gould, and set to the music of Sir Arthur Sullivan which was followed by the members of the various Commanderies who marched in solid columns that stretched from curb to curb.

Officers on Stand

On the reviewing stand were Grand Commander Chalmers L. Pancoast and Grand Master Mark Norris with other grand officers.

The musical organizations which led the various divisions of the parade were the Knights Templar Band of Albany, the American Legion Drum Corps of Kingston Post, the Port Jervis Fire Department Drum Corps, Walden Fire and Drum Corps, the Middletown Band, the East Kingston Concert Band, and Reiser's Band of Poughkeepsie.

It has been many years since Broadway was jammed with such a huge crowd of spectators who had turned out to see a parade. Chief of Police J. Allan Wood estimated that fully 30,000 people had assembled to view the marchers.

Streets Free of Cars

Acting under orders of Chief Wood, the police began clearing Broadway between Delaware avenue and Pine Grove avenue of parked automobiles so that the Knights would have the unobstructed use of the street for the parade. Traffic was diverted to side streets just before the parade started and during the progress of the parade no traffic was allowed on Broadway.

This added to the enjoyment of the spectators who lined the sidewalks. Probably the largest assemblage of spectators was on the city hall lawn, the lawn of the high school and the grandstand. Here it was estimated that fully 5,000 or more people had gathered.

Colors Add to Spectacle

The gay colors of the uniforms of the musical organizations and the blue uniforms of the Knights with the white ostrich feathers that crowned their hats formed an inspiring sight.

One of the most impressive sights was the mass formation as it marched past the reviewing stand. As the parade passed on up Broadway to the municipal auditorium the white ostrich feathers appeared like huge fluffy clouds. The massing of the colors added a note of patriotism to the scene as the great number of American flags were massed together while the gay standards and banners of the various commanderies (Continued on Page Five)

Martin Stakes His UAWU Control on Factional 'Purge'

HOMER MARTIN

Washington, June 14 (AP)—Homer Martin, who left the ministry to become a powerful figure in the C. I. O., staked his leadership of the United Auto Workers Union today on a purge of internal opposition.

Martin invoked his emergency powers as International U. A. W. president yesterday in suspending five of the union's officers for leading a disgruntled minority faction. He termed them an "irresponsible group."

Six others out of a board membership of 24 promptly threw their support to the suspended men.

The next step will be a trial in Detroit before the remaining members of the board.

The suspension order included four of the union's five vice presidents: Richard T. Frankenstein, Walter N. Wells, Wyndham Mortimer and Ed Hall. The fifth man was George Addes, secretary-treasurer, whom Martin replaced by the temporary appointment of Delmond Garst.

Chairman John L. Lewis of the C. I. O. was asked to intervene, and listened to the disputants for six hours Sunday. He left without commenting publicly.

Hundreds Enjoy Albany Templar Concert Monday

A greatly appreciated feature of Monday's program of the Knights Templar convocation was the concert given from 6:45 to 8 o'clock by the Knights Templar Band from Albany. A stand had been erected on the lawn in front of the Masonic Club and hundreds of people gathered along the walk in front of the club grounds and in Academy Park to listen to the fine program presented. In addition to several encore numbers the program included the following: March—"El Capitán".... Sousa

Selections from "The Merry Widow".....Ichar
Overture—"Crown of Jewels".....Panella

Selections from "Faust".....Arr. by Hays
Oriental Overture—"Eastern World".....Chenette
Selections from "Robin Hood".....DeKoven

March—"Them Bases".....Hufflon

F. J. Clinchick Leader

The 35-piece band was under the leadership of Fred J. Clinchick, instructor in music at the Saratoga High School and also in Skidmore College, who has been its leader for the past three and a half years. Although playing Monday as the Knights Templar Band, the organization is better known as the Cyprus Temple Shrine Band and on occasions of Shrine meetings numbers between 50 and 60 players.

The band was organized in December, 1919, by V. Elmore Slack of Albany. At the start there were four members, but within ten years there were 217 musicians on its rolls, including men from Kingston, Poughkeepsie and other cities, and on various occasions it has turned out 90 to 100 strong. Mr. Slack is a graduate of the Boston Conservatory of Music, a native of Vermont and although he has lived many years in Albany his one boast while talking to a Freeman reporter Monday night was that he was "a native of one of the two states that remained in the Union in 1936."

Playing with the band Monday were four of its Kingston members—Everett Roosa and Joshua DuBois, charter members of the organization, Howard R. St. John and Herman Roosa.

Bodies Carried Out

Mule Pack Train Is Primitive Cortege for TWA Airliner Victims in California

Yosemite, Calif., June 14 (AP)—Bodies of all nine victims killed when a TWA airliner crashed into a mountainside March 1 were brought to Wawona early today on a mule pack train which plodded by night through 20 miles of treacherous snow country.

Hearses took the bodies to Fresno.

Members of the search party said the only sections of the plane recognizable were parts of the fuselage and tail surfaces. All of the rest was smashed to bits. The plane did not burn.

A ground crew of 35, led by H. O. Collier, 22-year-old Fresno man who discovered the wreckage Sunday, came upon the shattered ship yesterday. The wreckage and the bodies lay within 100 feet of the top of Buena Vista crest, a 9,750-foot mountain. Forest Ranger J. H. Wegner said it was the highest point on the route the plane had been flying.

Flying blind in the night through a snowstorm, the plane struck and sheared off pine trees, it plunged 300 yards further. There the ground crew found it yesterday, its broken nose shoved against the snow-covered peak, and its silver tail resting in another tree.

Eight of the bodies were thrown clear, 100 to 500 feet from the ship.

Saugerties Police Kill

The Saugerties Police Protective Association will hold its second annual ball in the high school auditorium on the evening of Friday, June 17. Hi Henry and his aristocrats will furnish the music and a floor show under the personal direction of Helen Cashin Davitt. The committee in charge promises a good time to all.

The borrowing and lending of automobiles, common as it is as a friendly courtesy, it is not a safety first measure. Borrowing may be safe enough in some cases, but on the average it helps to build up the record of wrecked cars and of deaths and injuries in traffic accidents.

The familiar quotation from Shakespeare, "Neither a borrower nor a lender be," is a good counsel for the motor age, the Bureau of Public Roads finds.

The federal government has expended 6 1/2 billions of dollars to encourage the development of transportation, of which 2 1/2 billions have been for waterways and approximately 3 1/2 billions for highways.

CLASSIFIED REUNION

CAROL was lost somewhere in the city and she did not want to be found. She had let Phil understand that definitely five months before.

For hours now he had been telephoning. He had asked first at the radio stations if they employed a pianist, Carol Myers.

Sorry—they had no such pianist. He had called the hotels from the Acme to the Waverly.

No Carol. He sighed heavily. Carol had so blithely told him, "I'm going to get on one of the radio stations." Then somewhat miserably, "I know it's breaking your heart, and it's breaking mine, too. But my music comes first. I was just born that way."

And so she had left Irondale, and Phil, and the little house they had planned to buy on Elm street.

She had gone, and she had written to no one. One day Phil had passed the little house on Elm street—slowly. Then he had hastily driven to his room, packed a bag, and taken the next train to the city. The city was large, but he would find her—he must find her.

Now, drearily, he watched the drizzling rain. Was Carol out then—broken, tramping from place to place seeking for work?

She had probably scanned every "Help Wanted" column for weeks. He slumped in his chair again. She was too proud.

If only—he stared intently at a rose in the wall paper. Why could he not place an advertisement in the paper—word it to fit her experience? She would read it, answer.

He rummaged hastily in his pocket for pencil and paper. Now, what should he say? He knew so little about music, but remembered some of the phrases she used. Let's see...

ACCOMPANIST. GOOD SIGHT reader. One who never gets lost no matter how much the singer skips. One who knows classical music from Bach to Gershwin.

He read it over and sighed with approval. He mustn't use his own name, of course, couldn't use his hotel room.

Perhaps he should rent a small office somewhere for a day, if possible, or for a week. Perhaps he should have an office girl, too...

Two days later, before eight in the morning, Phil was at his desk in his private office, the early edition of the paper before him.

"I'll need you for just this morning," he explained to Nancy, the young sister of one of the hotel telephone operators.

"I expect some telephone applicants in answer to an advertisement—probably about three or four. It's for highly specialized work. I guess you'll have to send each one in to me."

He sighed; he wanted only Carol. At eight thirty they began swarming, pianists of all ages and sizes and nationalities until the outer office sounded like a noisome hour in a school yard. The first one he nervously questioned.

"You're a pianist?" "You bet I am. I've played for 'tab shows for ten years."

"H'm—h'm. Can you play arpeggios?" "play anything."

"Grumph," he cleared his throat. "I'm very sorry, Miss—er—er. I'm afraid you won't do. Here—she really looked hungry. 'Er—here is money for your car fare. Thank you for coming."

She accepted the money, amazed, as then, because of her rejection, flounced resentfully from the room. Pianists, pianists, pianists. Good heavens, there couldn't be so many! He ceased questioning them.

Scarcely glancing at them he would say: "Sorry. You won't do. Here's your car fare."

He ran out of change and sent Nancy with his bills quickly out for more. The mutterings outside swelled into louder protests.

"Sorry. You won't do. Here's your car fare." One serious-eyed woman refused to be dismissed.

"Why won't you give me a chance to play for you?" "I'm sorry," he said brusquely. "But you won't do. I don't believe you could accompany me sympathetically."

Carol had once used that phrase. "Here's your car fare. Good morning."

"Just a minute, buddy." She flashed a badge. "We've had reports on you. You're evidently not on a musician. The one ahead of me is one of the best in the city. I asked her to apply."

"Why, I—I—Phil's face became very white. "I—I—this way," he stammered, "I—I wanted a girl—"

"But you don't understand," he cried. "It's a certain girl—"

"Coming peacefully!" She opened the door and Phil saw two burly policemen advancing. And there was that mob of excited, jabbering pianists. "Better run along, girl," the policeman told them. "It was a false alarm."

"The judge is hard on your kind," one of the policemen growled at him. "They'd put him in jail five years—ten years, perhaps, and Carol would starve..."

Dinner Postponed

The fried chicken dinner sponsored by the M. C. Lawton Progressive Club has been postponed from Thursday evening until Saturday, June 18, at the home of Mrs. Mittie Miller of 27 Martin's Lane. The club will also sponsor a picnic at Lawton's Park, July 4. The public is invited to attend both affairs.

With the growth of the canning industry lima beans have become one of the most popular vegetables and the introduction of freezing as a method of preservation has increased this popularity. The demand has been mostly for small "baby" lima as the average housewife apparently thinks because they are smaller they are more tender.

Asks Aid for the Chinese Victims Of Ruthless War

Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, president of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, has issued an appeal for assistance on behalf of the Chinese people whose homes have been destroyed and country ravaged so ruthlessly by the Japanese. Saying that "no one can remain ignorant of the human tragedies the Japanese are inflicting upon the Chinese" and asking for "an expression of vast and profound sympathy," Judge Hasbrouck Sunday issued the following appeal:

"In the midst of the present catastrophe of war in China there is no help that China looks to with so much hope as the United States. No forward looking students of world affairs failed to apprehend the ambition of Japan to become a world power. The Russian-Japanese War of the early days of the century and the subjugation later of Manchukuo unmasked the yellow peril. The United States cannot fight a war on the western shore of the Pacific. Therefore we cannot help the oppression of China by Japan.

"But there is nobody who can remain ignorant of the human tragedies the Japanese are inflicting upon the Chinese. Words are inadequate to describe how awful the repercussions of this war are upon the non-combatants in China. The American Red Cross knows the human suffering imposed so ruthlessly on China as well as any organization. Let not China look in vain for an expression of a vast and profound sympathy in this country. Let us make it known through our Red Cross. It should take the shape of a gift greater than that extended to the Japanese recently when they were distressed by earthquakes. More serious and more pervasive are these human agonies of war than of earthquakes. The call for our sympathy and help has a much profounder appeal. While the potentiality of our giving ability has been sadly impaired, still we should heed the appeal of China and seek to alleviate her suffering population to as great an extent as lies within our power.

"Time, which deals out to nations their retributions, does not furnish the remedy and help for present distress. Let us show our hearts to China and hope that their expiation may not be lost upon Militaristic Japan.

"Contributions will be appreciated received at the American Red Cross headquarters and forwarded with the proper dispatch."

Killing Recalls Diamond Reign

The reign of Jack "Legs" Diamond as the racketeering bootleg king of the Catskills was recalled this week with the death in New York Monday night of Edward Kenny, 32, who was once suspected of killing Diamond's wife on June 30, 1933.

Kenny was shot to death in a West Side bar in New York shortly after 11 o'clock Monday night. He met the end as it came to Diamond and so many of his henchmen, when a gunman, described as "dapper," confronted him at Callahan's bar and fired six shots, three of which lodged in Kenny's back.

The dead man was known as the sweetheart of Mrs. Diamond's roommate, Mrs. Florence Palmer Flynn, who bore the colorful nickname of "Three Fingers Flo." Her husband met death three days before Mrs. Diamond at the hands of a gunman.

Police charged that both Kenny and his sweetheart had plotted the death of Flynn to collect $10,000 in insurance.

UNENTANGLING ALLIANCES

The United States holds aloof from military alliance with any part of Europe, but it has never, and does not now, withhold informal cooperation. Moreover, the roots of many European situations are found in America.

The movement for Czechoslovakian independence was developed here. Its great leader, and the Republic's first president, Masaryk, was married to an American wife. A large group of American Slovaks are in that country today pleading for greater freedom for Slovaks within the republic.

Much of the preparatory work for Irish independence was carried on in this country. Prime Minister De Valera of the Irish Free State was born in New York. His movement was largely financed in this country.

President Smetona of Lithuania was once employed in a law office in America.

Several million Americans of Polish stock were active supporters of Paderewski when he battled for Polish freedom.

Never a member of the League of Nations, the United States has nevertheless had representatives on various League commissions. An American served as its High Commissioner to deal with German refugees. The United States is a member of the International Labor Organization. An American sits on the World Court bench. There is an official American observer at League sessions.

"Isolation" as applied to this country's relations with the rest of the world is obviously a very relative term with a special definition. It seems chiefly to mean that this country continues to make its own decisions in foreign affairs.

A VENERABLE NEWSPAPER

The Montreal Gazette has recently observed its 160th anniversary. Americans are interested in the occasion for two reasons. One is the age and accomplishment of the Gazette, both deserving respect. The other is its origin.

Benjamin Franklin, who seems to have had a hand in practically everything useful and interesting in his day, was its founder. In 1778 he met in London a French printer who was publishing a paper in England. Franklin, like many other patriots then, hoped that the French Canadians could be induced to side with the Americans against Great Britain. He persuaded the young printer to come to this country and obtain a grant from Congress to publish a paper in Montreal. It all worked out as planned, except that the Canadians did not join with the Americans.

The first paper was called the Literary and Commercial Gazette. It was almost newsless and very small. But it grew as Canada grew. The little wooden press which had been brought from England was replaced by better equipment and finally by the complicated modern machinery required for a great newspaper in the present time. American newspapers wish the Montreal Gazette a cordial "Many happy returns of the day!"

SAVED LIVES

The other day Patrolman W. G. Neumann of New York City saved a man from drowning and chalked up his thirtieth such rescue. It seems to be a habit of long standing, for 15 of Neumann's rescues were made before he joined the Marine Division of the police force. Neumann has five departmental awards for bravery because in some cases the life-saving called for courage along with quick-thinking, good sense and skill.

Probably more people are saved from drowning than are drowned, just as more people avoid automobile accidents than take part in them. Most of the time the rescues and escapes from disaster are so much a matter of habit and so much less spectacular than the sudden deaths that we pay little attention to them. It is just as well to note them occasionally.

WOMEN AGAINST WAR

The Ladies' Home Journal has been taking a poll of women and what they think about war. It has solemnly discovered that they were agin it. One wonders why they were.

to all the trouble to find out what everybody knew before.

But they did learn one curious thing. In asking whether we should have gone into the last war, the average of all ages, all classes, all kinds of people, was 70 per cent negative. That is, more than twice as many women thought we ought not to have gone into the last war as thought we ought to have gone. In the matter of making the world safe for democracy or anything else, most of the answers said we had not done so. (But one realistic woman lifted her head and said at least we made it safer at the time.)

They say we will not have to go into the next one—they are against future war, too. The L.H.J. does not say how we are to escape that. We'd like to know.

THE PENNSY PURCHASE

The Pennsylvania Railroad has authorized an equipment program which will cost about $8,316,000. One thousand gondola cars will be built, eight special type cars for freight service, and 20 electric passenger locomotives. This will mean more than 1,000,000 hours of work in the shops of the road itself, and added working time in the plants where the electrical parts of the locomotives are made. This sounds like something. It means improvement for the railroad and employment of a useful number of men. Along that right of way lies recovery.

Princeton chaplain speaking at Bryn Mawr graduation urges the students to establish good homes. Preparing the field for the summer Princeton proposals?

There's no satisfying people. In winter they want to sit in the sun and in summer they want to go skiing.

INFLAMED LUMPS IN THE NECK

We have all seen children with a lump in the neck—an enlarged lymphatic gland. The gland is really a filter which filters out poisons from the blood stream and then allows the poison to go back into the blood stream in small amounts so that the system can absorb it gradually. Thus in infected tonsils it is not unusual for these swollen glands to hold some of the poison within their tissues for as long as two years after the tonsils have been removed.

Now a swollen gland can be a source of gradual poisoning of the system particularly if the youngster is run down, has infection in the tonsils, sinuses, or has tuberculosis. It is often of help to him physically therefore to have gland come down to its normal size again.

If the gland is broken down it is usually removed by surgery, but naturally the physician or surgeon does not like removing any lymph glands because "every gland that is needlessly removed weakens by just so much the ability of the system to protect itself against all infections. However it is a serious mistake to allow enlarged glands to cause such inflammation of the surrounding tissues as to make it necessary to remove parts of muscles with the possibility during operation of injuring important nerves and blood vessels."

When the gland is actively inflamed—adenitis—causing pain and distress, the use of the X-ray is now being used and Dr. Samuel Hurwitz and Sidney N. Zuckerman, University of California, report their experiences in the Journal of Pediatrics.

"Sixty-two children with acute cervical adenitis—infamed lumps in the neck—were treated with small doses of X-rays. Resolution—complete healing—occurred in 52 cases while in nine there was pus formation. In a group of 21 properly controlled patients in hospital who were treated by X-rays, 17 were cured, as opposed to 10 treated by other measures. Pus formation resulted in only 3 of the 21 cases treated by X-rays and pus formation resulted in 7 of the 10 treated otherwise."

"The X-ray treatment is a most valuable aid to the treatment of acute cervical adenitis in children. It is the method of choice in all patients with marked glandular swelling."

I am speaking of the above series of cases written for this high standing journal because there are some physicians who have not had such satisfactory results from X-ray treatments.

Octagon House

BY MOORE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far: Assey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating the murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has enraged Quoniam. She was killed by a left handed blow from the knife of her sister, Pam Frye. Milling around the Frye Octagon House are: agreeable Tim Carr, who was married to Marina; Jack Lorne, who thought he was her husband; Roddy Strutt, whose plane crashed the night of the murder; Aaron Frye, Pam's father; Peggy Boone, an artist; and persons unknown who smoke Turkish tobacco, burned down the barn, and biffed Assey, Tim, Aaron and two troopers. Missing is a $50,000 lump of ambergris belonging to Pam.

Chapter 34

Art For Art's Sake

It was a perilous trip in the overloaded boat, and the current and Timothy had a vigorous battle all the way. Assey tied up the boat, shepherded the troopers to the car, and proceeded to drive the couple back to Octagon House.

"Now," he said, as he got out of the car, "I want you to drive these fellows to Hanson, and then bring your car back, please, and leave it here for me. I want to see Jack Lorne, and then I got an errand to do."

"Have you discovered?" Assey asked him without any preamble, "whether or not anything got taken or disturbed here last evening by the person who socked Aaron?"

"Haven't looked," Jack told him with a yawn. "I wouldn't know, anyway. Marina kept everything in order, in the portfolios, I never bother with stuff like that. Say, come see what I've got planned for Senator Hemmingwell's dining room wall. Marina didn't like my first sketch, but I did another last night." He held out a sketch, and Assey looked at it.

"Mmmmm," Assey said. "What's that in the corner, the fatted calf, or the Senator himself?"

Lorne snatched the drawing from his hand and started off on a shrill tirade.

Assey listened appreciatively as he wandered around the studio, peering into portfolios and lifting the lids from the countless cardboard boxes that served as files.

Probably the boy thought that this display was for the eyes of Dr. Cummings, who would diagnose it as what happened when a man didn't get enough sleep and plenty of good, hearty food—including a good, hot breakfast. Personally, Assey thought the outburst was temper. Just pettish, ornery bad temper, with a little childish tantrum thrown in.

Assey crossed over to the fireplace and looked into it reflectively, and then he resumed his steady pacing around the room. There was not, he thought, much sense in telling Jack Lorne.

Lorne would find out soon enough that whoever had biffed Aaron Frye had also removed the contents of all those portfolios and boxes. Removed them, and neatly burned them up.

Original Ideas

"That's art!" Jack wound up, thumping the table with his fist. "That's art!"

"Just so," Assey said soothingly. "Just so. I don't doubt it a bit. Tell me, did your wife help you a lot?"

"Well, she helped," Lorne admitted grudgingly. "Not a lot, but she used to have some ideas."

"She never went in seriously for drawing or painting did she?" Assey laughed. "Oh no. Of course, she did have a certain amount of talent, but she never did anything about it. Never wanted anyone to know about it, either. Always hid away by herself when she worked."

"I see," Assey said. "She helped in your early plans with rough sketches. Always different. I suppose all her ideas were original?"

"But of course they were!" So Jack Lorne didn't know that Marina had swiped Tim Carr's sketches. And if she had swiped Tim's, she might well have swiped others.

Any fool should have been able to guess what Marina had been up to. Of course, Jack Lorne had always trusted Marina. Why should he have suspected that her ideas were not always original? A brighter person would have caught on, but Lorne had admitted that he was not bright. And he certainly was not!

"Where are your sketches of the mural?" Assey asked suddenly. "Got 'em here?"

Lorne waved a hand toward the corner. "In the portfolio there," he said. "But why not go see the mural itself?"

"Today is Sunday," Assey pointed out. "The post office is closed. Whose idea was it to stick in the natives?"

"Marina's," Jack said. "It was fun. She knew 'em all so well. Some of them are sore, but that

"Did your wife help you a lot?" asked Assey.

Jack was sitting in his studio before a littered table. He was dressed in crumpled green pajamas, and he hadn't yet bothered to shave off his accumulation of beard.

"CAN you think of any one person in town who was more annoyed about the mural than any other person?"

Jack laughed. "Oh, Pam was hopping. So was Aaron. And Peg and Roddy and Nettie—and the minister, and the plumber, and—say, wish he'd get over here and fix that tank! They were all of them sore. Everyone in it. Some of them threatened to beat me up!"

"It's just this lack of appreciation for true art," Assey said blandly. "You shouldn't worry."

Timothy Carr met him as he strode back to the Frye's. "The car's ready for you."

"Good," Assey said. "If anyone wants me, I'll be over in the Pochet hospital."

"What's the matter with you, or are you just visiting a sick friend?"

"Visitin'," Assey said. "So long." Timothy shook his head as he watched the little car scud down the drive.

"Don't look so unhappy," Pam said, coming up behind him. "Assey leads a charmed life, and he probably will bring the car back safely. He always does. Did he tell you all about the great ambergris loss?"

"What are ambergris?" Tim asked. "And tell me, do you like steak and kidney pie?"

"No. Didn't like it." "How about caraway seeds?"

"They make me sick," Pam said. "But what's that got to do with—"

"I never," Tim said, "could think of marrying a woman with a passion for caraway seeds, and steak and kidney pie. Singly or together. As one of the vital points I like to get settled at the start."

"Oh, you do, do you?" Pam said. She hated herself for turning red, and not being able to frame a proper retort, with just the proper amount of gay flippancy in it. The sort of easy and successful retort which would always make, to Pam's deep envy.

"Oh, you do, do you?" she said again, mentally cursing her inability to say anything else. Compared with what Marina would have said, she sounded like a coy housemaid. Looked like one, too. Jack thought, suddenly conscious of her kitchen apron. And her hands. Dishpan hands of the first water.

Sundown Stories

Christopher Works

"I WILL work in your garden," said Christopher, "but that is not a real punishment. I will stay in my nest when I am not working and that is a punishment to keep away from all of you when you're together and having a good time."

"But I will also give myself an added punishment. I will help Mrs. Quacko in her pond-cleaning. I will help Top Notch gather worms for the birds so that his General Store is well stocked. I will do any work any one asks of me and in addition to this I will, as they call it, eat humble pie. Each morning I will come down from my nest and I will caw:

"I am a bad crow. I will work for all of you to make up for all the harm I have done. I am a bad crow!"

So Christopher's punishment was planned, and he did what he said and was a great help to all of them.

But later on, Top Notch, who felt that he did not need to attend to his General Store when Christopher Columbus Crow was doing so much, took a walk toward the barnyard in the neighborhood.

He had not got beyond Puddle Muddle when he heard some little cheeping cries.

There he saw four baby chicks. They were so young and so frightened that they were huddled close to each other to keep warm, for their fear chilled them.

"Chicks!" cried Top Notch. "Wait until I get Mrs. Quacko to shelter you under her wing. Wait until I get Willy Nilly to take you home. Wait, chicks, don't be frightened."

The four tiny chickens felt somewhat better at the sound of Top Notch's voice.

The basket of flowers which graced the platform during the sessions of the grand convocation was a gift from Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, of this city, and at the close of the convocation this noon the flowers were presented to Grand Commander Sir Jackson R. Shoemaker.

Monday the local Knights of Columbus declared open house in their building for visiting Knights Templar attending the convocation.

The gesture attracted much favorable comment by local residents and was received with appreciation by the visiting Knights, since they made use of the local K. of C. headquarters throughout the day and during the evening.

Officers of the local organization offered their building for use of the convention when it became apparent that the visitors were overcrowding other available headquarters.

Auditorium Decorated.

The whole side walls of the Municipal Auditorium were hung with white with rose valances and decorated with flowers and Knights Templar banners for the patriotic pageant and historic drama given last evening by members of the Grand Commandery. The auditorium was crowded with Knights and their friends. Following the program the guests of the city enjoyed dancing with Paul Zucca's orchestra furnishing the music.

The pageant and drama, "The Cross and the Colors," proclaimed the glory of the cross, "Our Flag," and Knights Templar banners and sacred emblems. The program was given in five parts and four episodes opening with religious and patriotic ceremonies in honor of Flag Day and taking the pageant from the triumphal entry of the Beauseants of all the commanderies, the 843rd anniversary of the Crusades, the ancient Templars, the American period, and the modern Templar.

Crucifer Enters First

First entered the grand crucifer in a cloth of gold cape carrying the cross which to the Knights Templar is a cherished emblem. This was followed by a patriotic service in recognition of the eve of Flag Day. After the bugle call to the Ancient Crusaders the battle flags of the ancient Templars known as Beauseants, entered all together and made an impressive sight massed at the foot of the platform where they received the blessing by the Grand Prelate and then were massed on the right of the stage. This procedure of the bugle call, the entrance of the participants, a reading by the historian and taking positions on the stage was followed for each episode in the history that was enacted.

The 843rd anniversary of the Crusaders, which took place in the year 1095, was introduced by the summons of the Grand Prelate who repeated the historic summons to rescue Jerusalem from the infidels.

Next came the call to the banner bearers and the banners of the Order of Malta were presented and blessed and then carried to their places.

Second Episode.

The second episode opened with the 820th anniversary of Hugh de Paynes, the first Grand Master. The tribute was made by the Hugh de Paynes Commandery of Buffalo. The third episode was the commemoration of the 748 anniversary of Richard Coeur de Lion, the tribute being made by the Coeur de Lion Commandery of New York City.

In the American period the American flags of all the commanderies of New York state made their triumphal entry in commemoration of the 144th anniversary of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Throughout each of the episodes and scenes Paul Zucca's orchestra played the processional marches and the triumphal hymns. Other tributes in the American period episode were paid to DeWitt Clinton, the first Grand Master of the Knights Templar of the State of New York by the DeWitt Clinton Commandery of Brooklyn.

The entrance of the Grand Standards or Commandery Banners upon the call to the Grand Conclave by the Grand Bugler, the entrance of the Right Eminent Grand Commanders of New York and the closing scene with the Most Eminent Grand Master of the Encampment of the Knights Templar of the United States, paying tribute to the American flag, brought to a close this impressive ceremony which paid tribute to the Knights Templar, the American flag and the parts they have played throughout the centuries.

manderines formed another colorful group.

It was a sight that brought the spectators cheering to their feet.

As the last of the marching men passed the grandstand the street became jammed with spectators who flowed out from the grandstand and the sidewalks into the road. So dense was the mass of people that it was some time before it was possible for auto traffic to be resumed with safety on Broadway.

Not alone was Father Manning interested in the affairs of the Holy Name, but in the parish of St. Joseph's as a whole. HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A boy and a girl were riding in a big creaking wagon, a dustless dirt road behind them, riding right into the camera. Proper men jugged the wagon dutifully to produce the needed squeaks, and the road re-created on a screen behind them while the camera turned in front.

For the girl, Anne Shirley, it must have been a good omen, this ride. It was on a similar trip, only in a buggy, that red-haired Anne chattered her way into a good many fan hearts as "Anne of Green Gables."

For the boy, James Ellison, it was just a different kind of ride—but fraught with possibilities too. His role in "Mother Carey's Chickens" is his fourth away from the westerns, and it's his second wherein, romantically speaking, he is the whole masculine works.

How Opera Star
Most of Jimmy Ellison's riding previously has been in horse opera. Then with scarcely any warning they plunked him into a stiff shirt and tails for "Vivacious Lady."
"That was the tough part," says Jimmy. "Trying to be sophisticated and subtle—after playing in westerns where we always mean exactly what we say and where we really act when we act."

If Jimmy makes the grade as a character leading man he'll be full-time, since acting in Hollywood high school plays. At 26, he has had nearly ten years of trying.
Fresh from high school, he got a job days in the Warner laboratories, acted nights at the Pasadena Community playhouse. One night a Warner scout spotted him, arranged a test, and Jimmy became the first to be developed and saw his own test before anyone else.

Good Advice
"I just thought if I worked with it myself I might be able to make it look a little better," he recalls, "but I might as well have saved the trouble. I didn't get the contract. Got one later, however, at M-G-M, where I didn't do anything. I took a trip to see my brother in Honolulu, thinking I'd get a job there, but he advised me to come back. And I did, and things have worked out luckily."
"But if anything goes wrong with this new business of mine, I'll be perfectly happy to get back to the westerns. I'd like to have my own western series, some day."
He's been married a year (for the benefit of those girls who'll be writing in after "Vivacious Lady") to Gertrude Durkin.

BPW Finishes Van Buren Street

The Board of Public Works has recently completed the reconstruction of Van Buren street. A new foundation was laid and a pavement built on it. One of the oldest residents on the street when the work was completed informed Mayor C. J. Holsman that it was the first time in 38 years that a substantial work had been done on that street.

The board is planning the rebuilding of other streets in the city. Work of rebuilding has been held up to a great extent by rainy weather.

Guessing Game For Veteran Film Fans

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The changes time hath wrought startle some of the movie famous as well as their followers.

Here's another guessing game in pictures. Can you identify the people below from these portraits of 10-odd years ago? All those portrayed are more famous now than they were then.

1. She was getting her first taste of fame when she posed for this one. Today she's enjoying plaudits for acting as well as for other talents.

2. She looked like this in the picture that gave her the first boost toward stardom, but she couldn't help the hat. It was a costume movie.

3. When he first came to Hollywood, they made him up to look like this juvenile. But he's really a first-rate character star.

4. This is a relic of the lady's brief career as a two-reel comedy star. She since has "exploded" her way to more substantial fame.

5. The lure in these eyes must have been directed at some stalwart hero of an early talkie. Today, the same eyes twinkle merrily and smartly.

Artists' Group Sets New Policy

Woodstock, June 14—The Woodstock Artists Association, which for nearly twenty years has been Woodstock's leading art association and led the artistic activities of the community, has adopted a new and important policy.

From the small group that began the organization, it has increased but gradually until the total membership was about 20 artists. Now, by inviting new members it has increased its number to about 75, representing the recognized artists of Woodstock. This entire membership will be represented for this year by an executive committee elected at a membership meeting Friday evening.

These committee members will not be able to succeed themselves the following year and next year an entirely new committee is to be elected in the same way.

The former directors found this change necessary in order to keep the organization to its original democratic policy of representing

Unfurled her standard to the air,

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—There was an astonishing moment in a Brooklyn court the other afternoon, packed with drama and realism. A Malay seaman was to testify before a magistrate and tell what he knew of an attempt to smuggle eleven Chinese into the United States.

But when you testify in court in this country you first take the oath. You swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God.

And that's where the color and the melodrama of the mystic Orient comes in. For Malays are Mohammedans and their conception of the deity differs from ours. And so an oath to our God can in no sense be binding to one of the Mohammedan faith.

MAKE WRITING PAY YOUR DIVIDENDS

Easy to Learn the "Tricks of the Trade"

Let's interview this happy young author—who turns her idle time into money by writing. How does she do it?

"You've caught me at the start of my idea," she says. "I'm jotting down notes about by subject—a mystery house nearby which has always fascinated me."

"It's been boarded up ever since I can remember, but day and night a light burns over the doorway. People say that long ago, after a family quarrel over her lover, the daughter of the house ran away and never came back. Is this old story the clue to the perpetually burning light?"

"An exciting subject, isn't it? Now I must decide the form I shall write in. I may dig up the truth of the tale, write it as an article. Or I may say pooh! to facts and turn it into a dramatic short story."

"Style's my next thought. Article or fiction, I'll want to dress it up in picture words, give the flavor of the past. 'The whisper of petticoats, the flicker of gaslights, the clomp-clomp of horses' hooves, the rattle of hansom cabs cobbled streets.'"

Nothing mysterious, you see. An orderly plan you turn things you've seen and heard into lively, readable form.

The thing to do is to START! If those first words come hard, pretend you're talking to a close friend. To get the knack of picturing character, jot down descriptions of people you know. "Peppery Mrs. A., amiable Miss B."

Woodstock Group Marks 25th Year Of Local Library

Woodstock, June 14.—The annual meeting of the Woodstock Library was held in the library on Thursday evening for the reading of committee reports and the election of trustees. Trustees, elected for three years, were Frank Merwin, Floyd Stone, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, Mrs. Joseph Friedburg and George Neher.

The most interesting report read during the evening was that of the librarian, Mrs. Alice Thompson, who described the increased use that the entire township have made of the library.

Miss Isabel Doughty gave a report for the book committee, who in spite of a limited budget, have been able to select the most necessary books for the library. The mending committee has kept the library's books in exceptionally fine condition for a library of its means.

Mr. Neher reported for the house committee who have had the building painted, and the trees on the grounds treated by tree surgeons. Mrs. Schoonmaker reported for the membership committee and Mrs. Norton for the extension committee.

Martin Comewas was re-elected president, W. S. Elwyn treasurer, and Miss Elsa Kimball corresponding secretary. Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, who has been acting as recording secretary during the absence of Mrs. Julia Leaycraft, was elected to the office, and Mrs. Leaycraft was elected vice president.

Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker will continue as chairman of the membership committee, George Neher of the house committee, and Mrs. Norton of the extension committee, but Mrs. Joseph Friedburg will replace Miss Isabel Doughty as chairman of the book committee.

This year is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the library, which started with a few books owned by the Woodstock Club, and housed in a suitcase. Since then it has become one of the best small libraries in the state. Ten years ago the library moved to its present location which was made possible by a gift of money from Mrs. Walter Weyl, in memory of her husband, whose wish it was to make just such a gift. It was the will of the membership that their appreciation again be expressed to Mrs. Weyl.

Special Library Aids Job Bureau

That the newspaper business isn't the only industry with its own collection of strange slang terms is a truism among job-placement interviewers of the New York State Employment Service, according to Lloyd E. Nichols, manager of the local State Employment Service's office at the Burgwin Building, Fair and Main streets.

So voluminous are the nomenclatures peculiar to many industries that each of the 124 offices of the service is supplied with completely indexed books covering them. Seldom is a placement interviewer caught unaware when an employer uses a trade term in seeking a certain type of worker to put into a job that's open.

One of the difficulties of peculiar occupational names is that many of them are narrowly localized, said Mr. Nichols. A familiar term in Buffalo may be unknown in New York while a term familiar in Brooklyn may mean nothing in Syracuse.

Recently when a man filed his job application in one of the 74 up-state offices of the State Employment Service, he was asked: "What is your customary occupation?"

"Who me? Oh, I'm a dingman." This word is listed in the State Employment Service files but it is not in Webster's dictionary. An "dingman" is the all-around artisan who fixes defective spots on bodies of new automobiles as they come off the factory assembly line. He must be an expert painter and mechanic. He fits into any one of a large number of different jobs requiring mechanical skill.

If an employer in any part of New York state should ask the State Employment Service to send him a dingman to fill an open job, the job-order routine within a short time would reveal the individuals listed under that classification and referrals would be made promptly.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Moving Up Day
New Paltz, June 14.—Moving Up Day, the ceremony symbolizing the advancement of the three classes, was held at the school Tuesday, June 9. The affair was traditionally colorful with the seniors wearing their caps and gowns, the juniors red streamers and the freshmen green streamers. The program was held in the school auditorium with each class seated according to its rank.

concert on the campus Thursday evening before the Lantern Service. The Lantern Service was conceived in 1929 by Susan Spontato, Winifred Barry and Muriel Gregory, the respective presidents of the Senior, Junior and Freshman classes. The Seniors wore their caps and gowns and the Juniors and Freshmen wore their respective colors, the Lantern Bearers in single file headed each group of twenty-five and the remainder of the class stood four abreast behind them. Mosquitoes Kill Indians
Rockport, Ind., June 14 (AP).—Physicians said today mosquitoes, whose bite carries dreaded tropical fever to humans, had brought death to the second time within a week to children of Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Davis, residing near here. Four-year-old Charles Bernard died first then 18-month-old Leslie Lee followed. Two remaining children, Lennie, Jr., 7, and James, 16, are in Owensboro Hospital with the same symptoms. Doctors hold little hope for their recovery.

On to Africa
Washington, June 14 (AP).—This is election year—so Rep. George H. Tinkham (R., Mass.) is going to Africa as soon as Congress adjourns. Tinkham, only bearded member of the House, hasn't bothered for several years to campaign for himself. In 1936 he toured Europe while other congressmen were trying to win votes. He got back just before election day, and won by his biggest majority.

Happy Days Are Here Again

Smilingly happy over prospect of adjournment of congress were (left to right) Vice-President Jack Garner, Speaker William B. Bankhead and Senator Alben W. Barkley, as they left the White House June 13. Barkley had just announced Congress will adjourn June 15 without enacting any new railroad legislation.

The following organizations already have groups participating in this service: Artistic Shirt Co., City Employees of Kingston, Board of Education, Canfield Supply Co., Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., New York Telephone Co., Kingston Hospital, Governor Clinton Hotel, Ulster County Press, Ulster County Clerk's Office, State of New York National Bank, Cornell Steamboat Co., and Kingston Buick Co.

Probe Payroll Audit of State's Insurance Fund

Albany, N. Y., June 14 (AP).—Investigation into the administration of the payroll audit of New York state's insurance fund was underway today at the request of Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

Pointing to "rumors" of "possible fraud or corruption" in administration of the fund, Lehman in a letter to Bernard Botela, newly appointed general attorney of the fund, instructed that the investigation be undertaken "as promptly as possible."

The state's insurance fund was created in 1913 and now handles approximately one-third of the state's workmen's compensation claims.

Lehman's letter to Botela did not give the source of the "rumors" but, an attaché of his office said they dealt with alleged inaccurate reports of payroll by employers.

IN COUNTY GRANGES

Patron Grange
Patron Grange held its regular meeting Monday with Master Franklin Kelder presiding. There was one proposal for membership. Sister Lillian Davis reporting as chairman of the service and hospitality committee, expressed her appreciation to the members who helped serve at the Veterans' Memorial Hospital supper. She also reported that flowers had been sent to Sisters Gertrude Barnhart and Esther Desdesky at the Kingston Hospital and a present to Master Louis Fredd at the same place. Overseer Percy W. Gazlay reported on the Pomona meeting held at Homowak on June 2. The things of interest to Patron were that we had no members delinquent in their dues at Pomona, and that reports were in. The County Fair will be held on August 24. The county will be divided in two parts as last year for Grange exhibits and so judged. There will be no lecturers' conference at the state convention this year but will be held at Ithaca on August 16-19.

The county is cooperating in the work of the World's Fair. Mrs. Young of the legislative committee explained the working of the state convention committee. The State Fair this year will be held two weeks instead of one. The next Pomona meeting will be at Rosendale on September 3. The evening meeting was taken up with the report of Deputy Story, the obliging of new members, the memorial service, the awarding of the prizes for the year with Homowak scoring highest with a total of 98 per cent. The lecturer's program was the elimination in the singing contest. The Midland Grange Band of Woodbourne was present and assisted with the program. The meeting was then turned over to the lecturer, Elizabeth Schoonmaker, who opened the hour with the song, "God Walks in the Meadow," reading, "Flag Day," Robert Kelder, reading, "If We Understood," Lillian Davis, reading, "Getting Together," Aaron Bell; flowers in verse, Jennie DePuy; two humorous poems by Roswitha Davis; a musical romance read by the lecturer and the names of appropriate songs filled in by the Grange; this was followed by a quiz and the closing song, "The Rainbow at Sunset."

Sister Mrs. Isaac Graham of the county service and hospitality committee made her official visit. The county is making a recipe book to be sold in the county and asked that Patron Grange furnish 35 recipes for the book. Each must show the proper ingredients, the oven temperature, and the correct time for cooking or baking. These should be signed and in the hands of Sister Lillian Davis on or before June 25. The refreshment committee for the evening is Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Kelder, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Humiston, Mrs. Ruany Stephens and Miss Vivian White.

Baseball practice got under way Sunday afternoon at the ball park in Maple Hill with Henry Yonnet directing some 14 players who hope to play with Rosendale this summer. A meeting of these boys was called for Wednesday evening when they will decide what equipment is needed in order to begin play.

Sunday's exceptionally warm weather brought a crowd of guests to the amusement places of Rosendale. Williams Lake had its best day of the year with approximately 450 bathers at the beach. There will be a very important meeting of the Board of Directors of the Rosendale Township Association held at Williams Lake on Thursday evening, June 15. All members are urged to attend.

What Fruits to Plant?

What to plant? Will old varieties of fruit be replaced by more promising sorts? What kinds? Is the market demand changing? What are the most important commercial varieties?

A new bulletin, jointly prepared by pomology divisions of Geneva and Cornell, gives the fruits recommended for New York state. Included are apples, pears, plums, peaches, cherries, grapes, and berries. Know what you plant; it's the safest way.

21 Kingston High Trackmen Are Awarded Varsity Letters

In a special assembly at Kingston High School Monday morning, President Robert Maresca of the Athletic Association distributed varsity K's to 21 members of the track team. Leading the parade were ex-Captain Bill Von Essen, Captain-elect Milt Taitera, Mike Walder, Gene Wires, Bud Jones, Dick Decker and Paul Argulewicz. Maresca's presentation speech in part was as follows: "The track squad has enjoyed one of the best seasons, winning all its dual meets and placing second in the DUSO get-together, with Newburgh edging us out by only three markers. The captain of this year's squad was one of the big factors in the team's success. Competing in the 100, 200 and 400 yard sprints, Bill Von Essen, by his consistent placing and winning proved to be one of the most valuable men. "By far the outstanding athlete of the squad was the old reliable, Mike Walder. Mike made a new record in the 220 in the DUSO meet, besides taking first in the 100 and 200 yard sprints. Following Mike came Milt Taitera. Except for the DUSO engagement, Taitera placed in all meets. When Milt takes over the captain's post next year we look forward to see more outstanding work demonstrated by this Ulster Park youth. "Another versatile man," continued Maresca, "was Buzz Jones. Bud participated in the 100, 200, relay and high jump. He returns next season to add to his list of accomplishments. A second DUSO record-breaker is Gene Wires, the boy from Rifton. Gene runs the 440, and participates in the relay and broad jump. He set a new mark of 32.9 in the 440 at Port Jervis this term and it is too bad that graduation will take him from two more men who have completed their track services with the Maroon and White school are Dick Decker and Paul Argulewicz. Decker is listed for the shotput. Argulewicz tossed the discus. Another player who will not see any more action with the local school is Tommy Malnes, the man who reported late but nevertheless turned in some exciting times for the opposition. By competing in this year's track schedule Tom closes a standout career of sports and it is doubtful if we will ever see his equal. "Other men who received their K's were Bill Cole, Jess Shanny Douglas, Bill Smith, Jess Shanny Douglas, Joe Gilday, Joe Belrich, Johnny Stahl, Claude Haynes, Bill Tucker, Everett "Farmer" Soper, Max Toffel, Babe Larkin and Manager Bill Murray. In closing Maresca lauded the efforts of Coach G. Warren Kias and Loryne Connick, who piloted this amazing track squad. After Bob Maresca left the platform, Principal Clarence L. Dutton spoke words of praise to the squad.

Joe Louis Is Just 'Grewed Up'

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 14 (AP)—Of the thousands who have peered, prodded and poked at Joe Louis since he started knocking the daylight out of his fellow men, none is better qualified to talk about the heavyweight champion than his scarred and genial trainer, Jack Blackburn. His song around Dr. Bier's sock sanitarium runs something like this: "There ain't no 'new Joe Louis.' Just a Joe Louis grewed up, that's all. He hits harder, though not as often, than he used to and he's a way better fighter than he was the first time he fought that Smellin'." "Stands to reason, don't it? He's fought a couple of pretty smart guys since then, Jim Braddock and Tommy Farr, and he's been growin' and learnin'. And maybe we've taught him somethin' too."

Habers Would Like to Get In City League — Diz Caught Up

By Joe Kelly

Word comes from Phenicia that the baseball team there has hooked the Corinth nine, Saratoga county champs. The Mountaineers are waiting to hear from the Kingston Colonials and several Foughkeepsie outfits too. Bill Maltby is managing the Phenicia club. Managers interested in playing there should write to him. Sunday and holiday games will be played on the reconditioned diamond. Babe Ruth is honorary president of the club. Schoolboy Bush pitched the Mountaineers to a 7-2 win over Woodstock Sunday, the opening date of the season.

The boxing program for Friday night, with five three rounders staged, should give plenty of action with men like Frankie Albright, Hank Bunce, Nate Raskin, and Buddy Ackerman, all local fighters, booked to scrap.

These boys are matched against good opponents. At a meeting of the Adirondack A. A. U. Sunday in the Van Curen Hotel, Schenectady, boxing was reported as thriving. Kingston reported entering the track team in the Schenectady meet, Saturday, June 15, and was complimented for its move. The General Electric is sponsoring the event for which some attractive prizes will be given.

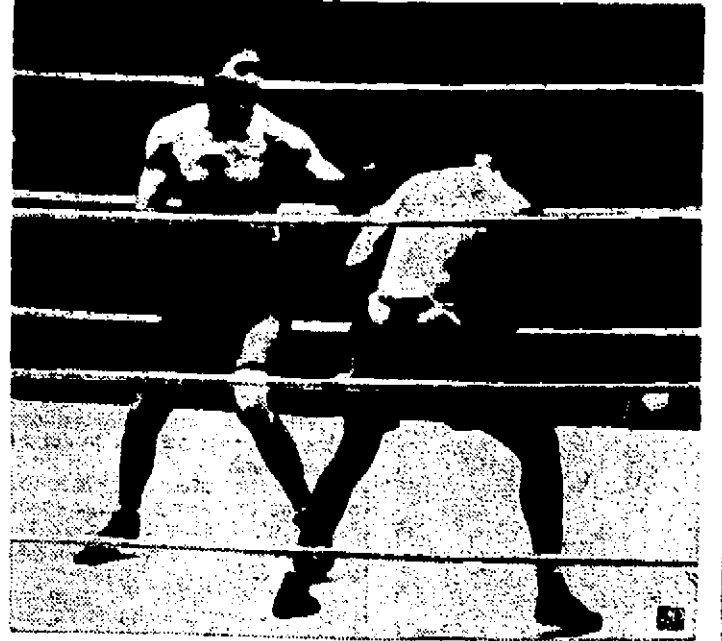

Jack Haber expects to see his 1st & Fiddle baseball team go places. The newly organized outfit would like to get into the City League for the second half.

Ben Toffel, ace softball hurler, as signed to toss for the Habers. Wonder of Benny intends to quit the softies. We wish Jack and his boys good luck and hope they'll do themselves proud in those new uniforms. Tonight the City League swings into action for the week. What the league needs, besides that new diamond, is a man who can stop a train. The managers are asking Dupe Plutus to stay away from the Athletic Field this week.

About time the folks stop kidding themselves about Dizy Dean. If he isn't through his imitations is a swell one. Credit much Hickey with a clever trick. A shorter swing at the plate helping Jimmy Fox in his melack. A couple of trades, something. Baseball circles are it that Van Mungo is going the Cubs, Ernie Lombardi to Brooklyn and Buddy Hassett to Cincinnati. How about the box putting Fritz Ostermuller and Johnny Marcum on the block for something in the pitching line.

FIGHTS THAT MADE HISTORY

118,000 Watched In Rain As Tunney Won On Points

Tunney (Left) Vs. Dempsey: 1920

By DILLON GRAHAM
Feature Service Writer
EIGHTH IN SERIES

A quiet, serious, strong-limbed marine brought modern-day boxing a parallel to the famous John L. Sullivan-James J. Corbett heavyweight championship duel when Gene Tunney took the crown from Jack Dempsey in 1926.

Before a comparatively small assemblage in New Orleans in 1892 Corbett, the ring's first scientific fighter, dethroned the pious Boston Strong Boy, the roundhouse clouter, Sullivan.

More than 118,000 looked on that rainy night in Philadelphia's Seaside stadium, September 23, 1926, as Tunney, the clever-boxing challenger, easily outpointed Sullivan's counterpart, the slugger Dempsey.

Dempsey had gained the same hold on the hearts of boxing followers that Sullivan held over a generation earlier. Perhaps they didn't admire Dempsey personally, but the vast majority of the fans had great respect for his punching ability and doubted that Tunney had a factory girl's chance.

But as early as the first round there was indication that the tide might change hands. At the outset Tunney remembered and faithfully carried out an admonition of his manager, Jimmy Bronson:

Interclub Trading Ban Goes Into Effect in Majors June 14

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Barring a sudden switch from speech to action on the part of American League moguls, the 16 major league baseball clubs will have to go through the hardest part of the pennant fight with whatever material they have on hand now.

About the time the Dodgers are expected to wind up their first adventure under the flood-lights—midnight tomorrow—the ban on inter-club trading goes into effect.

There's talk that the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians are after Buck Newsom, the winning pitcher down at St. Louis, but the chances are neither will get him. The Browns want players while the offers are in cash.

The deal that sent Alex Kamouris from Cincinnati to do the second-basing for the New York Giants, seems to have put the National League champions right in shape to make their big pennant bid in the home stand against the west which starts today. Alex helped out a lot on the recent western tour and the Giants returned home on top.

Both leagues took yesterday off for traveling, and today the western clubs of the National open in the east with Pittsburgh taking on the league-leading Giants and the Cubs facing the third-place Boston Bees in the headline encounters. Safely home from the east but with their American League lead cut to 1 1/2 games over New York, the Indians open against Washington while the Yanks play in Chicago.

Max Schmeling Is Unconcerned

Speculator, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—Max Schmeling doesn't seem to be unduly excited about his heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis a week from tomorrow. In fact he tries to pretend he isn't even sure when it will take place.

Talking with a group of newspapermen yesterday, Max remarked, as though recalling some unimportant engagement, "The fight falls on a Wednesday, doesn't it?"

Captain Vince Stoll Leads K. H. S. Batsmen With .407

The latest and final compilation of records and averages by Irwin Thomas, shows that Captain Vince Stoll was the leading swatter for the Kingston High School baseball club with an average of .407. Next in line are Jimmy Ashdown and Jack Halstein who have socked the pellet for 344 apiece. Incidentally the "Ripper" batted .343 during the 1937 campaign. The only other man in the .300 class is Ray Schneider, lanky fly-hawk who batted .333. With only these four leading swatters, the team average for the campaign was .253.

Vince Stoll who has captained this Maroon and White club to another smashing pennant championship is the leader in runs batted in with 10 while Jim Ashdown socked in six and Jack Halstein five.

For the extra base clouts Jimmy Ashdown takes the laurels with two doubles, a triple and a homer. George Coley, Vince Stoll and Ray Schneider had one two-ply blow apiece. Al Decker and Halstein banged out one triple and Ray Schneider was the only other batter to hoist out a round trip.

As for the pitchers, George Celuch takes the nod. Celuch twirled 24 frames, allowed nine hits, fanned 31 and walked nine. Hank Tiano tossed 15 innings, allowed eight bingles and whiffed 13. Earl Sleight who tolled through 20 rounds, gave up 17 blows and sent 14 batters back to the dugout via the strike-out route.

Only five bases were stolen by the locals, two being by "Red" McLane, one by Decker, Sleight and Stoll. The final record is the matter of men left on bases, 41. A double-killing, started by Sleight to Stoll to Halstein was the lone double play.

The complete batting average of the team is as follows:

	G.	AB.	R.	H.	P.O.	A.	E.	Pct.
Lindhurst	2	1	1	1	0	0	0	1.000

Grunenwald Bakers Will Take On Jones Dairymen This Evening at 6

Weather permitting, the City Baseball League schedule for this week gets under way this evening at the Athletic Field, starting at 6 o'clock, with the Grunenwald Bakers opposing the Jones Dairymen.

The Joneses are in second place with three defeats, one loss and a tied game with the Knights of Columbus, while the Grunies have a percentage of .333 for one victory and two defeats.

No batteries have been announced by the opposing managers, but it is presumed that each will use his strongest pitching material.

Other games this week are: Wednesday—Kyanize vs. Closi A. C. Friday—Hedricks vs. Knights of Columbus.

Closi and Dodger Ball Schedules

Max Lynch, the Wilbur baseball expert, who is booking games for two clubs, has announced the schedule of the teams to date as follows:

Closi A. C.—June 17 at Phenicia, 26th at Wittenberg; July 3, Lanesville at Chichester, and July 4 at Maple Crest.

Wilbur Dodgers—June 19 at Bolceville, 26th at Lanesville; July 2 at Maple Crest; 3rd at Stone Ridge, 4th at Middlebury, 10th at Phenicia, 17th at Napanoch Institution.

Max Schmeling Is Unconcerned

Speculator, N. Y., June 14 (AP)—Max Schmeling doesn't seem to be unduly excited about his heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis a week from tomorrow. In fact he tries to pretend he isn't even sure when it will take place.

Talking with a group of newspapermen yesterday, Max remarked, as though recalling some unimportant engagement, "The fight falls on a Wednesday, doesn't it?"

Latest word from the Kingston A. C. on Friday night's fight card is that Joe Triola has signed to box Vince Sempervino in the feature bout of five rounds.

Just back from Pittsburgh, the Albany southpaw is in good physical condition and ready to mix it with Sempervino, the Schenectady boxing expert who won the Hawaiian Islands welter title last year.

Triola was a local favorite when he boxed as an Albany high school boy, the fans probably remembering him best for his battles with Buddy Emerson, the St. Remy Diamond Belt champ.

Sempervino established himself as one of the cleverest 140 pounders to battle at the auditorium in his recent bouts and wants to prove that Richard Cremar, New York Golden Glove, just landed a lucky one several weeks ago to stop him.

"I got careless, and I'll prove it against Triola," said Sempervino. "I never should have lost that fight, because I'd beaten Cremar twice before."

Triola is one of the hardest hitters in the amateurs, and may be the undoing of Vince's climb up the pugilistic ladder that is leading him to the pro ranks.

In the other five rounds, Frankie Thompson, Ballston Spa battler will tangle with Ed Ackery of Schenectady, and Charlie Raigins, the Saugerties Bomber, will do a return with Joe Roman, the Albany boy who was beating him about two months ago, but dropped back after injuring his hand.

Supporting the fivers are five three rounders, all of which promise plenty of action as the prelude boys bore in to battle their way up the ladder.

Frankie Albright, Kingston knockout kid, vs. Pete Jabonski, Albany.

Hank Bunce, Kingston, vs. Dory Bounbauer, Albany.

Lou Sampson, Kingston, vs. Nate Raskin, Ellenville.

Buddy Ackerman, Saugerties, vs. Joe Geesey, Albany.

Johnny Mancuso, Pine Hill, vs. Jack Couchman, Albany.

Plans Progress For Scout Camp

Fred Van Voorhis, chairman of the camp committee of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced today that plans were going forward rapidly for the conduct of the annual Scout camp.

Mr. Van Voorhis said he was very happy over the advance registrations, which on June 13 was greater in both number of camp weeks and number of boys than the camp had all last summer. Mr. Van Voorhis went on to say that the enrollment for the camp shows that four of the village groups are filled for the entire period of camp and the other villages are filling rapidly, and he urged all troop officials and scouts to send in their applications quickly so that no one would be disappointed.

Camp Half Moon, which is the name of the Scout Camp, opens for its ninth season on July 10, and will carry through until August 6.

The entire staff of the camp has now been selected and is as follows:

Members of the camp committee are urging all troop officials to file their camp applications at once so that the committee may complete final arrangements, and further that no boy be disappointed in the camp for 1938.
